Technic to feature industry leader Mike Carano at upcoming IPC APEX EXPO

Anaheim, California, USA - Technic is set to participate in IPC APEX EXPO 2024, North America's foremost electronics manufacturing event, to be held in Anaheim, California, from April 6-11, 2024. Renowned as the industry's largest gathering, the expo will encompass a world-class trade show, a cutting-edge technical conference, professional development courses instructed by industry experts, and extensive networking opportunities. IPC APEX EXPO 2024 will also host the Electronic Circuits World Convention 16 (ECWC16).

At Booth 4625, Technic invites guests to engage with industry veteran Mike Carano, an expert in the field whose extraordinary contributions have left an impact for both the IPC and the electronics industry. Carano, a long-standing IPC volunteer, has served on 16 IPC committees and is a recipient of the IPC Hall of Fame Award, a prestigious acknowledgment within the organization.

Renowned as a published and prolific writer, Carano boasts over 150 technical articles and a wealth of experience presenting numerous papers worldwide. Carano is recognized as a thought leader and subject matter expert, having pioneered innovative process chemistry and engineering applications, along with patents for solar cells, printed circuit boards, semiconductors, general metal finishing, and advanced packaging.

At IPC APEX Expo 2024, Technic encourages attendees to visit the "Ask the Expert" corner at Booth 4625 to meet Mike Carano, seizing a unique opportunity to interact with a seasoned professional who has significantly shaped the landscape of the electronics industry.

"At Technic, we're thrilled to have industry luminary Mike Carano join us at IPC APEX Expo 2024. His outstanding contributions to IPC and the electronics industry have shaped the landscape of our field."

- Denis Jacques, Global Product Manager PWB
